Itinerary Highlights

Vegetables & Spices Store

As you walk on along Little India, sniff up the distinct flavours of traditional Indian spices. Have you wondered why spices are commonly used in Indian food? It is known to have healing properties and is used as a natural painkiller. For example, cumin is known to aid in digestion, improves immunity and treats piles. Trailing further into the end of the market, you would find a vegetable shop called 'Chia's Vegetable Supply' which sells vegetables that are less commonly found in Singapore.

Tekka Centre

Located at Buffalo Road, Tekka Centre's origins go way back to 1915 and has grown to become the most culturally rich market in Singapore. It is a common gathering place for the diverse communities of Singapore, as they speak different languages. One highlight of Tekka Centre is a goat meat stall which sells specially imported goat meat from Australia. Ali Sabry, the owner of this 25 year old business takes the effort to ensure his meat is consistent in quality, which explains why it is well-known for premium grade goat meat.

Jothi Store & Flower Shop

Located at Serangoon Road, Jothi Store offers flower garlands and flower decorating services for different occasions, such as weddings or baby showers in Hindu, Indian Muslim and Indian Christian customs. The shop also sells incense sticks, fanciful Indian bangles and bindis which are unique souvenirs that hold cultural and religious significance to the local Tamil community.

Komala Vilas Sweet & Savouries

It is time for desserts to sweeten up your day! Try out the local sweet desserts at Komala Villas, such as Jalebi and Burfi that are specially made from spices and traditional recipes to bring out the most amazing flavours of Indian food.

Sri Veeramakaliamman Temple

Heading towards one of the oldest temples in Singapore, the Sri Veeramakaliamman Temple which is constructed by our Indian pioneers evokes a sense of familiarity and home for those who come from India to work. It was commonly used as a place of worship and refuge for our Indian pioneers and holds many symbolic representations of the Indian culture.

Khansama Tandoori Restaurant

On to the very last stop, Khansama Tandoori Restaurant is a place that serves authentic North Indian cuisine. In this restaurant, you get to take a photo with our Teh Tarik flaring master, followed by a cooking demonstration and a scrumptious lunch which consists of traditional North Indian dishes such as Mutton Korma, Butter Chicken, Fried Papad and more!
